Accessibility statement

This accessibility statement applies to wearethreshold.co.uk, the website of Threshold.

Threshold exists to widen access and help people engage meaningfully with the places they live, work and visit. We want our website to reflect that, so we are committed to making it usable by as many people as possible, whatever their needs or the technology they use.

Using this website

We want you to be able to:

- zoom in up to 400% without text spilling off the screen
- navigate most of the website using just a keyboard
- navigate most of the website using speech recognition software
- use most of the website with a screen reader
- change colours, contrast levels and fonts using your browser or device settings
- use the website on mobile, tablet and desktop

AbilityNet has advice on making your device easier to use if you have a disability: mcmw.abilitynet.org.uk

Our commitment

We are committed to following the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) version 2.2 at AA level. These guidelines explain how to make web content more accessible for disabled people.

We have worked hard to make this website as accessible as possible. However, some content may not work for everyone, particularly older documents and content from third parties. If anything gets in your way, please contact us and we will find another way to give you what you need.

Other ways to access our information and services

If anything on this website doesn't work for you, just get in touch. We are happy to:

- send you information in a different format, such as an accessible document, large print, easy read, audio recording or plain text
- provide a transcript or written description of any video or image
- talk you through information by email instead of on the website
- sign you up to our mailing list or answer an enquiry directly, without you needing to use an online form
- discuss your access needs before you come to one of our festivals, events or installations, and do our best to meet them

Contact us

- Email: info@wearethreshold.co.uk
- Or use our contact page

We will respond as soon as possible.

Reporting accessibility problems

If you find a problem with this website, please let us know using the details above. Tell us the web address of the page and what the problem is, and we will do our best to help.
